OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY TO THE PRESIDENT

New Delhi, the 10th September 1956

No. 26-Pres./56.—The President is pleased to award the Police Medal for gallantry to the undermentioned officer of the Calcutta Police:—

Name of the Officer and Rank.—Shri Chittaranjan Mukherjee, Constable, Calcutta Police.

Statement of services for which the decoration has been awarded.—At about 5-40 a.m. on the 5th February 1955, Constable Chittaranjan Mukherjee, while on duty in the Kidderpore Docks, noticed four persons emerging out of shed No. 9 with five bags. He challenged them on suspicion whereupon one of them rushed up to him and offered some money as bribe which the Constable refused. Meantime the associates of the culprit ran away but the Constable caught hold of the culprit and dragged him towards tea bags which contained about 5 maunds of loose tea when the culprit suddenly stabbed the Constable on his left hand with a dagger causing serious injury. Undeterred by the injury the Constable tried to secure the criminal by pinning him down. But, a second stab forced the Constable to release his hold on the culprit. However, the shouts of the Constable drew the attention of Shri N. Choudhury, a Super-cargo of the Calcutta Port Commissioners who rushed to the spot and tried to grapple with the culprit and in turn was also stabbed in the chest with the result that he fell down unconscious. In the mean time the Constable scrambled to his feet and in spite of his multiple injuries, made one more desperate effort to secure the culprit but in exhaustion collapsed. Both the injured were removed to Hospital but Shri Choudhury succumbed to his injuries. The Constable survived after undergoing a long treatment.

Constable Mukherjee showed great devotion to duty and conspicuous gallantry in his attempt to apprehend a dangerous dock criminal.

2 This award is made for gallantry under rule 4(1) of the rules governing the award of the Police Medal and consequently carries with it the special allowance admissible to officers of and below the rank of Inspector of Police as provided in rule 5.

No. 27-Pres./56.—The President is pleased to direct that the following amendments be made in the Regulations for the award of the Bharat Ratna published in the Gazette of India of the 15th January 1955 under Notification No. 1-Pres./55, dated the 8th January 1955, namely:—

PRESENT

Dated the 13th day of July, 1956

APPEARANCE:

For the workmen of the Bank: Shri B. K. Porwae, Shri K. K. Mundal, and Shri K. J. Joseph.

For the Bank: Shri D. B. Tilak, Advocate.

DECISION

This Reference has been made to me by a Notification of the Central Government of the 14th of May 1956 under sub-section (1) of Section 6 of the Industrial Disputes (Banking Companies) Decision Act, 1955. The question for determination is whether in computing the period of service of a workmen for purposes of sick leave in accordance with the directions contained in paragraph 487 of the award of the All India Industrial Tribunal (Bank Disputes) constituted by the Notification of the Government of India in the Ministry of Labour No. S.R.O. 35 dated 5th January, 1952, the service of a Bank employee prior to 1st April, 1953 should be taken into account.

2. Paragraphs 487 and 488 deal with the sick leave to be given to an employee. They are in following terms:

"487. During the full period of his service an employee shall be granted sick leave on medical certificate at the rate of one month for each year of service for a period not exceeding twelve months, and the Manager or other officer appointed for the purpose may grant additional sick leave, if considered advisable in the bank's interest, in special cases. The medical certificate should be from one acceptable to the Bank.

"488. Sick leave shall be on half average pay which shall be reduced to quarter of average pay after twelve months;

Provided that where an employee has served the bank for at least a period of five years he may, if he so requests, be permitted to avail himself of sick leave on full pay upto a maximum period of six months during the full period of his service such leave on full pay being entered as twice the amount of leave taken in the sick leave account."

3. In paragraph 627 the Tribunal decided that the several directions in the award should come into operation with effect from 1st April, 1953, "except where we have provided otherwise with reference to any particular matter." Furthermore "wherever any general directions in this award are found to conflict with any specific subject matter or dispute, the latter shall prevail over the former." But the Tribunal gave a definite direction that the new scales of pay, dearness allowance, special allowances etc., shall come into force from the 1st of April, 1953.

4. There was an appeal to the Labour Appellate Tribunal against the decision on sick leave. We there paraphrased the meaning and effect of paragraphs 487 and 488 of the Sastry Award in these words: "Regarding sick leave the Tribunal has directed that during the full period of his service an employee shall be granted sick leave on medical certificate at the rate of one month for each year of service for a period not exceeding 12 months."

5. It is urged on behalf of the Bank that the amount of year's sick leave which has been granted by the award begins to accumulate after the 1st April, 1953. On the other hand labour contends that the computation starts from the very day on which an employee is confirmed in his appointment.

6. The object of giving sick leave was to provide for each employee a pool of special leave upon which he might draw on those unfortunate occasions in his career when he is laid up with the more sustained type of illness. It is intended to be his standby and his security at a time of anxiety. It cannot be seriously disputed that sick leave is more important to an employee in the later years of his service than in the earlier years, for with advancing age the need for sick leave becomes pressing. Could it then have been intended that a workman who has put in say, 25 years service, should have to start earning sick leave from the 1st of April, 1953, with the near certainty that he would never be able to accumulate a sufficiency of sick leave? That would clearly be contrary to the intentions of the adjudicators who were promulgating a scheme of sick leave for the immediate future benefit of the Bankmen.

7. I am of the view that labour has placed the correct interpretation upon this portion of the award. The object of the scheme given by the award is to confine sick leave throughout the period of one's service to a maximum period of 12 months. Once the twelve months of sick leave has been exceeded no further sick leave would be permissible except ex gratia. I am therefore of the view that it could not have been the intention of the Tribunal to so direct that Bank workmen with long years of past service should start accumulating sick leave at a late stage in their career.

8. I hold that upon a proper interpretation of the award the service of a workman is to be computed for the purposes of sick leave from the date on which he is confirmed. It follows as a necessary corollary that from the total sick leave earned by him not exceeding one year there shall be deducted the sick leave as such which he has already been granted prior to the award, because if the sick leave under the award is to be computed from the date of a workman's confirmation, then it is logical that such sick leave as he has received in the past should be debited to the same account. The Reference is therefore answered accordingly.
